

ANNUAL REPORT 2016

AYPH is the UK's leading national charity working to improve the health and wellbeing of young people.

NEW THIS YEAR:

- Took over leadership of the Young People's Health Partnership (YPHP), a consortium of seven organisations which works with the Department of Health, Public Health England and NHS England.
- Amplified young people's experiences at Take Over Days, in participation work and in a range of projects involving obese young people, trauma victims at A&E, views on digital records and design of health services.
- Published our compendium Key Data on Adolescence 2015 and launched it at the House of Lords.
- Delivered workshops to Public Health England regional offices on data and resilience.
- Trained over 500 GPs and secondary care clinicians in Type 1 Diabetes from a young person's perspective.
- Reached the finals of the Children & Young People Now health and wellbeing awards with our GP Champions work.
- Launched a new peer support website developed by young people from the Be Healthy project.
- Staged a national conference in Manchester with the Royal College of GPs, Royal College of Paediatrics and Child Health, and the Royal College of Physicians.

WE CONTINUED TO:

- Prioritise young people's health at conferences, workshops, in briefings and presentations.
- Work with young people on the design, implementation and evaluation of healthcare and services.
- Ensure all relevant sectors including education, research, policy and practice focus on young people's health.
- Share key research findings and data through social media and other channels.
- Work with health professionals to improve practice relating to young people's health.
